OUTCOMES

What you will achieve

By the end of the Jaeger course path, you will be able to:

1

Trace requests end to end

Instrument services with OpenTelemetry and follow requests across microservices in Jaeger.

2

Run Jaeger in production

Choose sampling, storage and deployment patterns that keep tracing useful and affordable.

3

Find latency root causes

Use traces, SPM metrics and correlated logs to locate slow and failing operations quickly.

WHAT THE FOUNDATION LEVEL ADDS

Tracing concepts, Jaeger architecture and first trace

Hands-on: Trace your first microservice request. Run Jaeger all-in-one and the HotROD demo, then instrument a small two-service app with OpenTelemetry and follow one request end to end in the Jaeger UI.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

- Beginners and working professionals who are new to Jaeger and want a solid, hands-on start.
- Engineers, analysts, testers and students preparing to use Jaeger on real work.
- Leads and managers who want first-hand familiarity with Jaeger.

BEFORE YOU START

- No prior Jaeger experience is needed.
- Basic computer skills and a laptop with a stable internet connection for the live sessions and labs.
- This curriculum includes every earlier level, so it is complete on its own.

AGENDA · FOUNDATION

Jaeger Foundation Training agenda

11 topics. Each level builds on the one before it, so this curriculum lists every earlier level in full. Days are for corporate (day-wise) delivery; live online batches cover the same agenda in max 8-10 hours.

DAY 1 — Foundation: Tracing concepts, Jaeger architecture and first trace

New at this level

1. Distributed tracing concepts: traces, spans, span context, parent-child relationships and context propagation
2. Why tracing: debugging latency and errors across microservices, and how traces relate to logs and metrics
3. Jaeger overview: CNCF graduated project, Jaeger v2 built on the OpenTelemetry Collector, end of life for v1
4. Jaeger architecture: collector, query service, UI, storage backends, ingester and Kafka buffering
5. OpenTelemetry and Jaeger: OTel SDKs, OTLP over gRPC and HTTP, and why the Jaeger client libraries were retired
6. Installing Jaeger: all-in-one container image and binary, UI on port 16686, OTLP on ports 4317 and 4318
7. Jaeger UI tour: search by service, operation, tags and duration, trace timeline, span details and events
8. HotROD demo application: generate traces, find the slow request and read the critical path
9. Span data: attributes, events, status codes, recorded errors and span kinds server, client, producer, consumer
10. Propagation formats: W3C Trace Context traceparent and tracestate headers, B3 for older systems
11. First instrumented service: OpenTelemetry auto-instrumentation for a Python or Java app, viewed in Jaeger

PRACTICE

Hands-on labs

You build these yourself during the course, guided by the trainer.

FOUNDATION

Trace your first microservice request

Run Jaeger all-in-one and the HotROD demo, then instrument a small two-service app with OpenTelemetry and follow one request end to end in the Jaeger UI.
