OUTCOMES

What you will achieve

By the end of the Makefiles course path, you will be able to:

1

Read and write Makefiles

Understand targets, prerequisites, recipes and variables well enough to maintain any Makefile you inherit.

2

Automate project workflows

Use make to drive builds, tests, containers and CI jobs through one consistent interface.

3

Build at scale

Design portable, parallel and reproducible make-based build systems for large codebases.

WHAT THE FOUNDATION LEVEL ADDS

Makefile anatomy, setup and first targets

Hands-on: First Makefile for a C program. Write a Makefile with build, run and clean targets for a small C program and verify incremental rebuilds after editing one file.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

- Beginners and working professionals who are new to Makefiles and want a solid, hands-on start.
- Engineers, analysts, testers and students preparing to use Makefiles on real work.
- Leads and managers who want first-hand familiarity with Makefiles.

BEFORE YOU START

- No prior Makefiles experience is needed.
- Basic computer skills and a laptop with a stable internet connection for the live sessions and labs.
- This curriculum includes every earlier level, so it is complete on its own.

AGENDA · FOUNDATION

Makefiles Foundation Training agenda

10 topics. Each level builds on the one before it, so this curriculum lists every earlier level in full. Days are for corporate (day-wise) delivery; live online batches cover the same agenda in max 8-10 hours.

DAY 1 Foundation: Makefile anatomy, setup and first targets — New at this level

1. Why Makefiles: build automation, dependency tracking and make as a portable project task runner
2. Setup: GNU make on Linux, macOS (Homebrew gmake) and Windows via WSL or MSYS2, checking make --version
3. Makefile anatomy: target, prerequisites and recipe lines, comments and line continuation
4. Tabs and shells: why recipes need a tab, one shell per line and the @ echo prefix
5. Timestamps: how make compares file modification times to decide what to rebuild
6. Default goal: the first target, .DEFAULT_GOAL and running make with named goals
7. Phony targets: .PHONY for build, test, clean and run targets
8. Simple variables: defining and referencing variables to avoid repeated compiler flags and paths
9. Dry runs and silent runs: make -n, make -s and reading the commands make would execute
10. First project: a Makefile that compiles a small C program and cleans its build output

PRACTICE

Hands-on labs

You build these yourself during the course, guided by the trainer.

FOUNDATION First Makefile for a C program

Write a Makefile with build, run and clean targets for a small C program and verify incremental rebuilds after editing one file.
